

Grace

Contributed by The Creative Concepts
Wednesday, 25 June 2008
Last Updated Wednesday, 16 July 2008

I have always been fascinated with weddings ever since I learned to appreciate the beautiful things in life. I always envisioned myself walking down the aisle in a white flowing dress with a 30-meter-train, walking towards the man who would promise to journey through life by my side…

As a little girl I always dreamed that my wedding day would be something out of a fairy tale…complete with knights, beautiful maidens in flowing garbs, an enchanted rose garden, a magical waterfall, white horses, a faraway castle… However, we all know fairy tales don’t always come true…there are things called pre-wedding jitters, in-law induced stress, hormonal imbalance, adrenalin rush, pimple attack, sleepless nights, fugitive suppliers, typhoons, cancelled bookings, shortened tempers and heightened emotions… But circumstances like these never seemed to dampen my ideas of what a dream wedding should be…and I always believed in my heart that every woman should be given the chance to have the wedding of her dreams! This is what we are all about! Together with a very dynamic friend of mine, JR, Creative Concepts was born. We’re a group of friends whose different passions are committed towards: Putting into reality the couple’s vision and personal taste for their wedding. Being in close contact with the bride and/or groom throughout the planning process and being there to oversee the delivery of contracted services. Offering vendor choices to the couple based on their given preference and information. Doing all possible means within our capacity to ensure that the event runs smoothly. Conceptualizing, planning, preparing and implementing up to the smallest detail all that is necessary to make the couples vision of a dream wedding a reality . The greatest fulfillment I have is when I see the couples happy and fulfilled at the end of the day, and the greatest reward that I get is the bond of friendship formed, which I know will last even when the wedding day has become part of a cherished memory. After a hard day's work, I can’t help it but shed a tear as I watch every bride walk down the aisle in a white flowing dress with a 30 meter train…walking towards the man who would promise to journey through life by her side…GRACE